

There are 7 natural laws that guide each and every being on this earth, and they are collectively known as the laws of the universe.

1. The Law of Vibration

This law states that everything in the universe, including humans, vibrates at a different rate or frequency. Your thoughts control your emotions, which control the frequency at which you vibrate. Your frequency then determines what you resonate with outside of yourself.

As you begin to think and feel something, that vibration zings through the universe and resonates with other like frequencies. As it resonates with those frequencies, it brings those things into your life. The problem is most people switch their frequencies so often that by the time their manifestation starts to head toward them, they're no longer in the frequency to receive it. They don't even see the manifestation, and it shoots right past them

2. The Law of Relativity

This law states that everything is relative. If you're in a room, it's neither big nor small. It just is. Nothing is good or bad, only your thinking makes it so. If you say something costs too much, you are comparing that to something in your head. It costs too much compared to what?

The Universe does not recognize size, measurement or time. To the Universe fifty cents is no different than $50 million. If you ask for it, it's automatically yours. You just have to accept and receive it.

But people say all the time, "We can't do that because there's not enough time." That's not true. Time is relative. Or they'll say that they can't do something because it costs too much money, or they don't have enough sales. Those are all relative.

3. The Law of Cause and Effect

The Law of Cause and Effect states that whatever you send out into the universe comes back to you. Every action has a reaction. Every cause has an effect, and every effect has a cause.

The key to success with this law is understanding that there is a First Cause, the cause of creation, from which everything began and still flows. Many people don't want to believe in a universal consciousness, so they perceive themselves as the first cause. This perspective is limiting. Without a way to reach beyond their own human capacity, they are limited to their current awareness and understanding. They can progress and they do, but that progress is peanuts compared to what they could do if they reached out beyond themselves to the Divine.

When you can trust in Spirit, you have access to all of the potential in the universe. All you have to do is let it flow through you, and it will.

4. The Law of Polarity

This law states that everything has an opposite and the opposites are equal: hot, cold; up, down. This also means that anything you experience on the inside also exists simultaneously on the outside. If you want something, it already exists around you. You can't have the desire for something without the means for receiving it being present as well.

5. The Law of Rhythm

This law states that all things have a natural cycle commanded by the universe.

Everything has a rhythm. We see this in the sunrise and the sunset, the moonrise and the moonset. The tide goes in. The tide goes out.

Healing has a rhythm. Relationships have a rhythm. Even earning money, marketing and sales have their own rhythm.

If you're trying to sell and you're out of the rhythm of sales, you are completely out of harmony with the people you're in a selling cycle with. No rhythm, no sale.

6. The Law of Gestation

This law states that everything takes time to become evident.

Every seed has a gestation or incubation period. Ideas are spiritual seeds and will move into form or physical results. Your goals will manifest when the time is right. Know they will.

7. The Law of Transmutation

This law means that energy is always moving from non-form into form.

Energy consists of all the knowledge that ever existed and ever will exist. It's all in one place simultaneously and it's available to everyone. That's why you have people in different parts of the world "inventing" the same thing. That knowledge is available. However, you can only perceive it according to your level of awareness. You can't perceive knowledge that you're not consciously ready to perceive, even though it's out there.
